

KlimaFOKUS is a news media with a website and a weekly newsletter. KlimaFOKUS writes about climate technology across disciplines, but brings it together in one place and connects the various industries so that readers can become wiser about any other stages in the green process.

KlimaFOKUS covers a wide range of industries: construction-, the electricity-, the food-, the engineering-, the chemical- and the transport industry.

In other words, events and news from the extensive climate area are referenced. Here we look at everything from the big inventions and decisions to the small climate-optimizing details.
